Susie D Eath was to stay a month at Cromer, then Rosie was going home with her for the remainder of the holidays. That was the arrangement. At the end of a little over three weeks, however, something happened, and the war came sharply home to her with the thought of her father. There was a letter in the paper dwelling on the probable sufferings of English civilians in Germany; she caught sight of the word Nauheim, and it seemed that her heart stopped; she must go back to Dene Royal, see what they were doing. She would not wait for Rosie; Rosie could follow later. As a matter of fact, she did not know that she would be able to do with her...
